Our Mission

“St. Timothy’s Episcopal School is a nurturing community of academic excellence that instills the knowledge, skills, and values for a life of purpose.”

As Head of School, I spend a lot of time reflecting on our St. Timothy's traditions.

At the first STS Christmas Pageant, when Fr. Hale was inspired to create a new role for a student upset to not have a part—the star of Bethlehem—did he realize the generations of future “stars” he was creating?

Or the first time that “October Rocktober” was sung in the Pumpkin Parade, did the audience know that there would never be another October at St. Timothy's School without that song?

When Balloon Day (starting as “Balloons for Belize”), Blue and White Days, Cupcake Days, and more, all began... did we realize that we were creating lasting, impactful experiences and memories that thousands of people would carry with them throughout their lives and that continue to this day?

I suspect some traditions were created accidentally, while others were created intentionally—but, regardless, what makes them endure is that they become deeply meaningful to each of us, and they unite us as members of a very special St. Timothy's School community.

This was on my mind during my sabbatical last fall. For a school where community and traditions are so important, we struggle to find a way for our 575+ students and 100+ faculty and staff to ever truly be all together in a single place to celebrate any of our traditions.

As I visited different schools, I was initially looking at examples for buildings we might build—things like “gymnatoriums” and student activity centers. I'm hopeful that we might one day bring such a building to our campus, too.

For the meantime, though, I found inspiration when I visited Trinity Episcopal School in Charlotte. At Trinity, all students and teachers gather together in their courtyard on Monday mornings for prayer, music, and community celebration. They call it Greet the Week.

This fall, introducing Greet the Week at St. Timothy's School has been a highlight for me. Every Monday morning, all of our students, faculty, staff, and administrators gather together in the courtyard. There's music and dancing and then a centering time when our chaplains lead us in prayer and a responsive reading from scripture. We take a moment for gratitude and celebration (whether involving the 1300+ pounds of candy we collected for the USO this fall or the time my son got to throw a pie in my face as one of the “winners” of the Fall Festival raffle). Then Joe, our Student Council President, leads us all in the Pledge of Allegiance.

I can think of no better way for us to start a week. And while we are only a few months in, my sincere hope is that Greet the Week might join that list of treasured STS traditions that will hold meaning for our community for years to come.

It just reaffirms what we all shout together at the conclusion of every Greet the Week: It's a great day to be a Titan!

Student Awards

Miles Kirby 2023 Headmaster's Cup

Miles Kirby was the recipient of the 2023 Headmaster's Cup. The Head of School carefully reviews nominations from faculty members based on overall academic performance, extracurricular involvement, leadership, and service along with the core character traits of kindness, respect, honesty, and responsibility to select the recipient of the Headmaster's Cup. Miles is now a freshman at Cardinal Gibbons High School.

Patrick Tinnesz

2023 Faculty Cup

Patrick Tinnesz received the 2023 Faculty Cup. Selected by the Middle School Academic Council, the award is given to an eighth-grade student that best embodies our Portrait of a Titan. Patrick is now a freshman at Ravenscroft School.

Smith Kibbe

2023 Chick-fil-A Second Mile Servant Leadership Award

Smith Kibbe was awarded the 2023 Chick-fil-A Second Mile Servant Leadership Award. Sponsored by the North Hills Chick-fil-A, this annual award is given to a student-athlete who best displays humility, a positive attitude, good work ethic, good sportsmanship, and great character. Candidates are nominated by their peers and coaches, and the winner is selected through an anonymous voting process. Smith is now a freshman at Baylor School in Chattanooga, Tennessee.

Presidential Volunteer Service Award

St. Timothy's School is a certifying agency for the Presidential Volunteer Service Award. Service is a crucial component here at STS and is one attribute when developing the Portrait of A Titan. These seventh and eighth graders "Love and serve God and one another" and faithfully volunteered their time during the 2022-23 school year, between 50-100+ hours, receiving the Presidential Service Award for their commitment. There are three service levels; Bronze: 50-74 hours, Silver: 75-99 hours, and Gold: 100+ hours.

CONGRATULATIONS

Class of 2023

On Friday, June 2, family, friends, faculty, and trustees gathered to celebrate the 81 members of St. Timothy's School Class of 2023.

Fun-Filled Fall

Traditions make up who we are here at St. Timothy's School. It is the first year since Covid restrictions that we have been able to bring back those long standing traditions, as well as add in some new events like Greet the Week, Mystery Reader, and the USO Candy Collection. One thing is clear, these beloved traditions were missed, and the new ones are becoming crowd favorites!

New Parent Event

New Titan families were welcomed to campus before the first day of school to meet teachers, see classrooms, hear from faculty, staff, and board members, and spend time in community at a cheese and wine gathering.

Greet the Week

Our newest tradition here at STS is Greet the Week, where each Monday, all faculty, staff and students gather together as one community in the courtyard. This is a time for prayer, fellowship, shout-outs for all of the wonderful things happening, and reciting the pledge of allegiance.

Back-to-School BBQ

Community is the heart of who we are at St. Timothy's School. The Back-to-School BBQ is the perfect opportunity for our Titan families to come together for fun, fellowship, and delicious BBQ. There is no better way to kick-off the start of the school year!

Community Storytime Mystery Reader

Pre-K this year visits the library for "Community Storytime," where different members of the school community are invited to read to the students and the students can ask questions about their role and job. This time together creates the opportunity for our newest Titans to get to know faculty and staff.

Titan Ambassadors

Over 100 sixth through eighth grade students signed up to be members of this leadership and community development program. Ambassadors serve the Titan community at school events, helping with school tours, the Fall Open House, supporting our Annual Fund campaigns, and so much more.

Day of Service

In honor of September 11, eighth graders spent the day serving in the community. They began their morning at Activate Good for a service event. While there, they made blankets, formulated civil service plans, and assembled school bags. That afternoon, students split into three groups and traveled to the NC Food Bank sorting 8,125 meals, the Green Chair Project dropping off bedding donations and touring the space, and Note in the Pocket where students organized clothing donations.

Leadership Celebration

This beautiful September evening was spent in the courtyard celebrating and thanking those who give so generously to the St. Timothy's School Annual Fund. To conclude the evening, guests enjoyed remarks from Head of School, Tim Tinnesz, and Board of Trustees Chair, Joe Diab.

MS Dance & Lock-in

Before the dance, fifth and sixth graders had a social with popsicles and a choice of seven different activities. Seventh and eighth graders danced the night away at the first school dance of the year. After the dance, the eighth graders were treated to an overnight lock-in that included several rounds of campus-wide manhunt, a scavenger hunt that took them throughout the main building, and lots and lots of snacks!

Art Showcase at Aladdin's

Second graders had their art on display at Aladdin's Eatery. Those featured spent time after school celebrating with their families and Ms. Bierer and Ms. Behrens.

Friends T-shirt Day & Titan Spirit Day

Each year, Friends of St. Timothy's designs and sells a t-shirt for students, teachers, and parents. Students wear this t-shirt in place of their uniform shirt on first Fridays throughout the year. On the third Friday of the month, students show their school pride by wearing all of their swag including flannel pajama bottoms on Titan Spirit Days.

Pep Rally

What better way to celebrate Titan Athletics than by having a pep rally! This fall, the middle school gathered for a fun students versus faculty volleyball game to honor and celebrate our Titan Athletes participating in soccer, volleyball, cross country and tennis.

Cupcake Day

This “sweet” tradition is organized by Friends of STS and happens four times a year. These delicious treats are donated by parents for students to purchase. The money raised goes back into the school to fund things like Parent Education Speaker Events, Teacher Professional Development, Special Gifts and Projects for the school and up to $200 per teacher for items they need in their classrooms...just to name a few.

Biggles & Littles

This mentor program partners fourth grade students with Kindergarteners who spend time together having lunch, reading, sharing in a special Friendsgiving, but most importantly, developing long lasting friendships.

High School Fair

Over 30 schools were in attendance locally and from all over the country for the STS High School Fair. This event is open to the public, and many in the community take advantage of the opportunity to learn about their high school options.

Artwork at the NC State Fair

STS had six students whose artwork was chosen at the North Carolina State Fair this year on display in the Gov. Kerr Scott building. The artists featured were third graders Graham Bennett and Miles Habel, fourth grade students Brooks Downer (shown here) and Vivian Yates and fifth graders Helen Howes and Ella Huang.

Halloween

Everyone gets into the spirit of Halloween coming up with creative and elaborate costumes. This year was no exception with middle school teachers teaming up as muppet characters and students dressing up as Dorothy, Harry Potter, Kernel Sanders, and Mary Poppins to name a few. A couple of themes were evident, Taylor, Kelce and all things Mario!

Fall Festival

What an evening at STS as families and friends gathered for the annual Fall Festival. There were games, food, dancing, basketball, face painting, balloon making, bouncy houses, cake walks, and so much more. Best of all, we were all together as a community!

Pumpkin Parade

A time honored tradition, the Pumpkin Parade is one of the fall favorites with Pre-K through second grade dressing up, and parading in for parents and friends then singing fun Halloween and fall themed songs, which yes, still included the song "Rocktober!"

USO Candy Collection

In preparation for Veterans Day, fifth grader Harrison Johnson pitched the idea to show gratitude by partnering with the USO and holding a candy drive to support and brighten the holidays for our troops. As a school community, STS collected a grand total of 1,310 pounds and 15 ounces of candy! Each class "weighed" in with their donations and Ms. Schwartz's class had the highest total weight collected, 207 pounds and 8.4 ounces, resulting in both kindergarten classes being able to help load up the donations when the USO reps visited campus.

Open House

On Sunday, November 12, St. Timothy's Admissions and Enrollment Team hosted an Open House welcoming prospective families to campus. This day was a big success due to the help of volunteers. Alumni and Titan Ambassadors were key to welcoming families, answering their questions, and leading them on tours to meet faculty and staff.

Veterans Day

St. Timothy's welcomed over 30 Veterans from multiple military divisions to show our gratitude at this year's Veterans Day celebration. Veterans spent time with family members and then processed into the gym for a celebratory ceremony. Kindergartners sang "God Bless America" and "Oh, I love America." The Titan community chanted U.S.A., and each Veteran shared the division for which they served, followed by a message from retired Army Chaplain Assistant Zaymeen Reese.

NC Thanksgiving Parade

The fourth grade created floats to showcase all things NC in the STS Fourth Annual North Carolina Thanksgiving Parade. The creativity was genius from Duck Donuts, sports teams, local universities, beach destinations, the state fair, Cheerwine, Pepsi, yummy favorites like Cookout and Bojangles, and so much more!

Parent Testimonials

Hiroko Reams

Parent & Faculty Member

"My children have really learned to be a part of the school community and celebrate the many talents and successes of their peers. Not just their friends but their peers."

Kemp Mosley

Parent

"This is a place where everybody is made to feel welcome. Everybody is made to feel important, and your children will pick that up almost immediately."

Louise Beasley

Parent

"We are fortunate that a place exists that cares so much for our children. St. Timothy's really creates an environment for school the way it's supposed to be. They come to learn and get excited about the world around them."

Phillip Simson

Parent

"St. Timothy's stood out to my wife and me. When we stepped on campus we could feel the warmth and the love that was felt for the children. I think the sense of community is unrivaled. We did not feel intimidated at all. Schools can sometimes be intimidating. St. Timothy's was always approachable to us but yet at the same time, without a doubt, still delivers all the curriculum and everything we were looking for in a school."

Regina & Torrence Harrell

Alumni Parents

"The curriculum designer and leadership of the school have made sure that all of the students have been able to thrive in whatever area the students identify as their strength. For that, St. Timothy's has adequately and overly prepared our son for the challenges that come with high school."

TITANS

St. Timothy's Athletics

This fall, our Titan Athletes worked hard and competed at a superior level. One of the several season standouts included an undefeated JV Boys Soccer team! Varsity Soccer player, Vance Dutton, led the team in scoring. Bethany Dempsey, a new fourth-grade teacher, was added to the coaching staff of JV Volleyball. Other highlights included the Varsity Volleyball team having a regular season record of 11-2 and the Girl's Tennis team making it to the conference finals! Read more to learn how these Titans represented STS proudly, and all they accomplished this fall sports season.

JV Soccer

Coach Ivan Gattis led the JV Boys Soccer to an undefeated season this fall! The boys had strong performances against Cary Academy and Our Lady of Lourdes to ensure the perfect season. A strong all around performance where throughout the season they averaged beating their opponent 5-1 across all games. The future looks bright!

Varsity Soccer

Coach Colleen Camaione-Edmonston returned to lead the Varsity Soccer team this fall. She was assisted by alums Taylor Currie and Lewes Powell. The boys were competitive across all competitions with their biggest loss of the season only being two goals. The team finished with a 7-6 record and earned the fifth seed in the conference tournament. After a quarterfinal win against Grace Christian where both eighth grade captains Liam Playford and Burns Zimmerman played great, they were ousted in the semifinal match against Cary Christian. Eighth grader Vance Dutton led the team in scoring, and eighth grader Max Alviani was an excellent goalkeeper all season.

JV Volleyball

Coach Tiffany Bartholomew returned for her second year as Head Coach, and Fourth Grade Teacher Bethany Dempsey joined her as they led the JV Volleyball team. The girls saw tremendous improvement in their skills over the course of the season. The highlight was the home victory over the Duke School. Sixth Grader Ellie Lippman served a fantastic game and the girls brought home a thrilling victory in front of the supportive fans. The overall record was 3-6, but they will certainly be remembered for how close every game was.

Varsity Volleyball

Coach Judy Whitley led the Varsity Volleyball team to a regular season record of 11-2. This record led to a second seed heading into the conference tournament. The team saw consistent play all year long from eighth grade Captains Shaffer Hale and Cece Marsh. Despite not being at full strength for the tournament, the girls played a great quarterfinal match against Magellan that concluded their incredible season.

Girls Tennis

Coaches John Markham, Park Lockrow, and Carol Lockrow were instrumental in leading the Girls Tennis team to a 9-2-1 record this fall. This led to a third seed in the conference tournament. Led by eighth graders Ellerbee Brewer and Emma Langley Cheek, the team stormed through the quarterfinal round beating Franklin Academy 9-0. They met second seed Trinity Academy in the semi-final match, and despite losing in the regular season, the girls tennis team put together their best performance of the season to upset Trinity and reach the Championship Match against St. David's. The Titans played an incredible match, though losing 3-6, these Titans had a wonderful season.

Cross Country

Coaches Kayla Green, Mark Kinnaird, and Phoebe Guice returned to coach this season with the wonderful addition of coach Emily Reichard. The Boys XC team finished second overall (out of 10 teams), losing by just two points (that's incredibly close, most teams are 10-20 points apart). Colton White came in seventh, and Gregory Hewitt placed eighth overall. There were more than 120 runners. The Girls finished third out of 10 teams. Beatrice Duffy placed second, and Sara Cate Gillikin placed fifth out of 116 runners.

Off-Campus Learning

STS is committed to learning outside of the classroom, and since the beginning of the school year students have been out and about learning and exploring! Check out all of our exciting Titan travels!

“Field trips provide students with opportunities to make meaningful, real-world connections to what they have been learning in the classroom. Whether it's watching a favorite picture book come to life through a theater production or exploring the plant life cycle at the arboretum, field trips encourage curiosity and exploration that extend learning beyond the classroom walls.”

Lindsey Behrens Head of Lower School

Panadería La Espiga

Middle school Spanish students visited Panadería La Espiga, a Mexican bakery in Raleigh.

JC Raulston Arboretum

Second graders took a field trip to JC Raulston Arboretum to learn about plants and weather.

NC Food Bank

Sixth graders gleaned almost 4,000 pounds of sweet potatoes that were taken to the NC Food Bank to be distributed to those with food insecurities.

Firehouse #9

Kindergarteners visited our next-door neighbors, Firehouse #9, and learned all about how first responders work and live.

Black Mountain

Sixth graders traveled across the state to Black Mountain where they participated in a ropes course and other team-building activities.

Meymandi Concert Hall

First graders took the new Titan buses downtown to Meymandi Hall to watch a performance about kindness.

Lego Exhibit

Art Club (6th-8th grade) visited a traveling Lego Art Exhibit here in Raleigh featuring art by Nathan Sawaya, a sculptor who creates art solely from Legos. Students enjoyed viewing and interacting with his art and participated in a scavenger hunt.

Civil Rights Museum

STS eighth grade students traveled to Greensboro to learn about the civil rights era and experience the birthplace of the Sit-In Movement at the International Civil Rights Museum. This meaningful learning experience coincides with curriculum units of study in history, literature, and ethics. The tour guides, several participants in the civil rights movement or relatives of those who participated, shared first-hand accounts of their experiences and showed our students that young people are powerful and can make positive changes in our world.

St. Timothy's Exchange Students

Since 2012, St. Timothy's School has partnered with Jump the World – Experiencias Interculturales welcoming and sending students to and from Guatemala. STS is one of over 40 private middle and high schools across the US participating in this program. Each year, the school hosts three to five students in the fifth through eighth grades who travel to Raleigh from independent schools from all over Guatemala with English Immersion programs. Before making the flight, these students undergo a year-long training program in preparation. Once they arrive, they are greeted by STS families who agree to become their host home. The program's success is dependent on our Titan families answering the call to become hosts.

"We hosted the fall of 2019," Hayden Holt shared. "It was a positive learning experience for us and for Alejo. It was great to share our language and culture with him. He loved the North Carolina State Fair, dressing up, and trick-or-treating for Halloween, and our Thanksgiving feast (he loved to eat!!) He spent time with other families because he was very social and outgoing and made a lot of friends in his grade level. Likewise, my friends and family enjoyed meeting Alejo and learning about Guatemala. He left with both an NC State Wolfpack and a Carolina Tar Heel t-shirt!"

Over the eight weeks, from mid-October until the beginning of December, which is their summer break, our Guatemalan friends attend class completing the same course load as STS students. They attend field trips, participate in clubs and community activities while experiencing all Raleigh has to offer as a member of their host family.

In addition to improving their English, students are responsible for cooking a traditional dinner for their host family and presenting a cultural presentation about their life to their peers, in both the lower and middle school.

STS Spanish teacher, Jump the World coordinator, and three-time host, Lisa Lowrance, spoke about the importance of the program saying, "Having someone in our home opened up the world to our children, our extended family, and our neighbors. When these students come, they become a part of your family. It is like having another child in your family. Life-long friendships are formed, we travel back and forth to visit, and make it a priority to stay in touch."

Jump the World – Experiencias Interculturales is ready to welcome our Titans to participate in an exchange in Guatemala. Seventh-grade students can travel as early as spring break of 2024 during Holy Week. For more information about hosting or having your child participate in the program, contact Lisa Lowrance at llowrance@sttimothys.org.

Our family had the great opportunity to welcome Javi into our home and lives for eight weeks. When you first sign up, you don't know exactly how it's going to go, what the highlights will be, what challenges we might face together. Javi has been a wonderful, smart, positive, resilient young man and he adapted to our home life quickly. We've introduced him to American football, gone to hockey games, taken him to Virginia, and shared Thanksgiving traditions with him. His English is fantastic, and we try to teach each other new words. Some of my highlights have been cooking dinners together, helping him to get on the big screen at the Canes game, our good night hugs, and Halloween! We will miss him greatly, but we've already committed to keeping in touch and seeing one another again soon.

CHAPLAIN FEATURE

Question & Answer with STS Chaplains

Kelsey Leachman

STS School Chaplain

Steven McCain

STS School Chaplain & Minister of Congregational Formation at St. Timothy's Church

STS

Can you define your roles?

Steven: I have roles and responsibilities at both STS and St. Timothy's Church. At STS, I plan and lead our chapel services as well as our "Greet the Week" which is our school-wide time of prayer and announcements.

Kelsey: I oversee all of our classes and daily Morning Prayer. I also organize the Chapel Guild which is a group of twenty-two sixth to eighth graders that meet during the club period.

It is important that Steven and I evenly distribute our time between the classroom and chapel. We want students to see that both men and women can teach and preach. I spend about two-thirds of my time in the classroom and one-third of my time preaching in chapel. Steven is the opposite and spends one-third of his time in the classroom and two-thirds of his time preaching in chapel.

Steven: We also provide pastoral care for the faculty, staff, students, and families of the STS community.

Can you share with us more about the classes you teach?

Kelsey: One of the classes we teach is World Religions class, and it respectfully introduces students to other religious traditions and their perspectives. We cover Judaism, Islam, Buddhism, Hinduism, and Indigenous Religions among other things. We spend time identifying the similarities and differences between those religions and Christianity, and then we teach students how to appreciate those differences with respect.

Steven: We also teach a class on Christianity. Christianity is a broad category, and we cannot cover everything based on our time constraints. A big focus of the class, however, is how we locate ourselves within the Episcopal tradition. Scripture is key, and we want students to understand the contexts of biblical passages so that they might be able to connect key stories in the Bible and see how it all fits together.

Q I understand that you are both married, but not to each other which is the general assumption on campus. That is not really a question, but do you care to set the record straight?

A Kelsey: Yes, not to one another! I have been happily married for four years to my husband Henry. He is the District Manager for Happy + Hale, so we eat lots of salad!

Steven: My wife, Elizabeth, and I have been joyfully married for seven years. Elizabeth is a pediatrician at Duke. We have two kids. Ben is three, and James is fifteen months old. We also have a dog named Luna.

Q If you had thirty minutes to an hour all to yourself, how would you spend it?

A Steven: By going outside! I love hiking and camping. I also enjoy kicking a soccer ball or throwing a frisbee with friends.

Kelsey: Playing Spikeball with my husband and friends or having a dance party! My music selection for a dance party would be pop or anything with a good beat. I am a fan of most genres (minus country or metal music).

Q What are some key goals you want to achieve with STS students?

A Kelsey: We want students to have an awareness that Christian practices and beliefs can vary. We understand that our students come from all walks of faith and denominations, and these churches/faiths do things differently (like baptism for example). Group-based discussions are key. We want to work and think together while encouraging healthy debate. We have rules for these discussions so that they can be meaningful conversations marked by respect.

Both Steven and I want to build relationships with our students. We want to get to know them as we serve and worship with them. Our hope is to build trust and to meet them at both where they are and who they are. We want students to feel comfortable coming to us especially if they have hard questions.

Steven: One of the classes we teach is Ethics, and a large focus of this class is decision-making. We want students to consider what a good or bad decision looks like and why. In one of our classroom exercises, we have students think about their own values and rank them in importance. Students reflect on where they come from, and how they are influenced by those around them: family, friends, community, etc. We also spend time looking at ethical dilemmas, including everyday scenarios, and how students might react and handle those situations.

Kelsey: What happens in chapel is also a primary focus of our goals, and our shared experience creates a specific culture in that time together. Our hope is that faith is seen as an invitation. We want students to feel a sense of invitation to which they can respond and decide. We want to present all of it as a beautiful invitation. Our hope is to create a culture where chapel is seen as a teaching place where no one is perfect. It is a place where we can all learn, and it's okay when we mess up because chapel is a safe place to do so. It is a place where we can come, learn, mess up, and not worry.

Steven: It is important to us that when we introduce the Christian faith to students, we do so in a way that is inviting like Kelsey said. Chapel should be accessible, and we want students to know that they can be a very real part of it. We are committed to loving every student no matter where they stand and whether they accept this sense of invitation or not. We will love and support them no matter what. Our hope is that every interaction we have with students allows them to see and encounter God through that interaction.

Before we go, can you each leave us with a fun fact?

A

Steven: My father was in the Air Force, so we moved around a lot as kids. From kindergarten through twelfth grade, I went to eleven different schools. I'm proud to say that in sixth grade I won the 65-pound wrestling city championship in Great Falls, Montana.

Kelsey: I participated in competitive cheerleading from fifth through eleventh grade. I am currently a fitness instructor at Duke, and I teach a class called Rhythm HITT (High-Intensity Interval Training). It is fun and freeing.

What is your favorite book of the Bible and key verse from that book?

Kelsey: Psalms, specifically chapter 16. It has been meaningful in different stages of my life. It really connects me with God and nurtures that connection.

Steven: Colossians is my favorite book, and 1:10 is my favorite verse. It reads, "...so that you may live a life worthy of the Lord and please him in every way: bearing fruit in every good work, growing in the knowledge of God." This verse helps guide me on how to live my life.

Letter From the Rector

When I was recently asked to provide an article for the St. Timothy's Magazine, I inquired if instead of me merely writing a biblical, theological, or pastoral reflection for you, I might be able to use this platform to highlight the wider work of St. Timothy's Church itself. After all, a church isn't its rector, nor is it simply a building; rather, it is a body of believers, a people united in their shared effort to do God's will ("on earth as it is in heaven" - as we say in the Lord's Prayer).

There is so much I could praise about the congregation of St. Timothy's Episcopal Church. But if I had to narrow it down to one thing, what comes to mind would be our church deciding to welcome another congregation to come and live alongside us here on Six Forks Road. Just over a year ago, the congregation of North Raleigh International Church (NRIC) held its first service in the church parish hall (aka the school dining hall) and since then has regularly met each Sunday afternoon.

Churches renting space from other churches isn't unique; in fact, smaller congregations often need to do this as they first get started. But NRIC wasn't simply looking for a building, they wanted an extended family - one they found in the congregation of St. Timothy's Church.

I should probably mention that NRIC isn't what we might call a 'typical' congregation. 95% of those who attend their Sunday service are children and young people under the age of 15. Moreover, within that group a sizeable portion of the children have parents who came to the US as refugees during the 1990s and early 2000s. Despite this vibrant congregation of children living virtually hand-to-mouth, pastors Patrick and Pauline Warutere (themselves from Kenya) spiritually feed, nurture, and love 50+ children unlikely to ever enjoy the same blessings in life as the STS students who use their worship space as a dining hall Monday to Friday.

Unless you happen to be around campus on a Sunday afternoon, I doubt you've seen the congregation of NRIC. But what we might be prone to miss, their heavenly Father sees. Speaking of God, it is to Him that I am most grateful, for it is by his directive hand that STC has been able to listen, learn, and practice our faith through our shared ministry with NRIC. Whether it was the knitted winter hats handmade by our knitting group, the home cooked food prepared nearly every Sunday by one dedicated STC parishioner, or whether it was our church leadership board (the vestry) deciding to not charge NRIC a single dollar in rent, these are the indications that the gospel is being learned and lived out at STC - and I couldn't be happier about it.

Why don't you come and join us? You know, I have my doubts that God is only interested in people simply going to church - crucial though that is. Instead, His desire is for us to be his church every day of the week - to fully believe and fully embody the gospel. Are STC or NRIC being Christ's church perfectly? I wish, but no, we both have room to grow. Still, my hope here is simply to show that godly fruit has and is being borne here on Six Forks Road - something I anticipate is going to keep happening too, just watch and see!

Abby Rinehard ²⁰¹⁷

Graduated from St. Timothy's School in 2017 (attended K-8th, 2008-2017)

Graduated from Cardinal Gibbons High School in 2021

Currently a senior at North Carolina State University studying Elementary Education with Special Education Add-On and graduating a year early

The WONDERFUL things I get to do at STS:

The summer after I graduated from STS, I volunteered to help Summer Camps Director Susan Patton with summer camps, and from there, the opportunity has blossomed into so many things. I am planning my eighth summer with our Camps Program, and my fourth summer running my own camps, which includes creating the curriculum. I am now in my seventh year in the After-School Care Program and my third school year as a substitute teacher. This year I am working alongside Mrs. Baird and Mrs. Piegzik on the yearbook, planning Pre-K and Kindergarten social studies curriculum, teaching Pre-K, and doing anything else to support! I have also been able to spend time in a few of our lower school classrooms observing our fabulous teachers to learn what great teaching looks like!

At NC State

I am a senior (Class of 2024) in the Elementary Education Undergraduate Degree Program. I am also pursuing a Special Education Add-On to my teacher licensure, which has included four graduate-level courses to gain more knowledge about how to best support all students. I am currently in my year-long student-teacher placement working with a fifth-grade class in the Wake County Public School System.

I am also in the University Honors Program and my Capstone Project is my own mixed methods research study involving pre-service teachers (like myself!) from programs around North Carolina. My goal was to better understand how prepared incoming teachers feel about incorporating social-emotional learning (SEL) strategies and what support they need to feel comfortable with SEL strategies. I want to gauge what ideas they have for improvements to undergraduate programs in this crucial area of study. I chose this research project because of my work as a Research Assistant for Dr. Jill Grifenhagen, an Associate Professor in Literacy Education at NC State, which helped me gain valuable, first-hand perspective regarding how to conduct research studies, and the topic of SEL as a result of my experiences at STS. I recently completed and presented this project and hope to get the piece published in the perspectives section of the EdNC website.

My Love for STS:

The way that our community cares for people is simply like nothing else I have ever seen or felt. Every day, I see what true joy, gratitude, and encouragement of others to be at their best looks like within our Titan community. I can think of so many moments I felt loved by my teachers as a student, and by graduation, I truly came to realize how each teacher at our school genuinely wants the best for every student they work with. Each supports that effort in their own way, while ensuring that students are appropriately challenged and feel valued as a member of the St. Timothy's family. STS teachers help each child see their own potential in all areas of life. The relationships this positive learning environment allowed me to build with our faculty, staff, and peers have continued to grow since I graduated, and being able to support our current students and their families in the same way I had at St. Timothy's is an absolute honor for me. Now as I begin my career as an educator, my goal is to do what St. Timothy's teachers have done (and continue to do) for me as I work to help my own students become amazing people.

Well Earned:

University Honors Program Student

Pack Promise Scholar

Speaker at NCSU's 2023 College of Education Math Summit

Panel Participant supporting the College of Education and the Dean of the college

My Conclusion

There are too many things I could say about the way that STS has shaped me to fit into a single article. It is a place that is VERY SPECIAL to me with many people I truly see as members of my family. Every place on campus holds some sort of memory. Everyone has helped me along my journey somehow, and no matter what, I know that people at STS are going to be around for me - they're "my people". Our school is like my personal Disney World if you can't tell!

UPDATE

Alumni Club

Kurtis Konrad 2011

Congratulations to STS alum Kurtis Konrad! Kurtis received his PhD in Industrial and Systems Engineering at North Carolina State University in October. Kurtis received his bachelor's, master's and PhD degrees from NC State University. During his time at NC State, Kurtis taught several classes while receiving his masters and PhD. Kurtis was a member of the band at St. Timothy's and continued in band at NC State.

Kate Konrad 2011

Kate Konrad graduated in 2022 from the University of Carolina at Chapel Hill. Kate graduated with her bachelor's degree and Masters in Statistics. She's a statistician at a company in RTP.

Caroline Konrad 2015

Caroline graduated from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill with her bachelor's degree and is a software developer at a company in Raleigh. All three Konrad kids are proud STS grads!

Sean Duncan 2012

Sean Duncan is living and working in Nashville, TN, at a startup private school as a full-time Office Manager. She has had an amazing experience being behind the scenes on what it takes to start a private school. She wears many hats, but it has been the most fulfilling job she has ever had. She contributes that to the school being Christ-centered and having a heart to serve their diverse community. Sean said that working there reminds her of STS. She constantly thinks back to the amazing teachers she had, like Mrs. Austin, Mrs. Robertson, Mrs. Todd, Mr. Nowak, and Ms. Bierer. She feels like it has been a full circle moment to work at a school that is smaller and is making a positive impact on kids' lives. She has loved to see STS grow since she attended school here.
